Musicians of the Minnesota Orchestra have been locked out for 11 months. While spending over $50 million on a fancy new lobby for “Orchestra-Less” Hall, the Minnesota Orchestral Association has produced no concerts, no educational programs, nothing for which they were chartered as a nonprofit corporation. They have misled donors, audience, constituents and the legislature. They have inflicted financial, physical and emotional hardships on their musicians, the very individuals who create their product.

Minneapolis doesn't need a new “event center.” It needs its Orchestra back!
